1. 69% of people prefer printed books and 25% of them prefer e-books when it comes to sharing books with other people.
2. 43% of people like to read printed books in bed while 45% of them like to read e-books in bed.

VII

I prefer printed books. First, I like to appreciate books with my five senses. Printed books give me a chance to touch them with my own hands so that I can feel the texture of the paper or material, hear the noise of pages as I turn pages and see how far I have gone through pages. The smells of them tell me how old or new a book is and it stimulates my imagination. Second, people would regard me as an intelligent person when they see me holding a printed book. It helps me enhance my self-image. For these reasons, I enjoy reading printed books rather than e-books.
